

Having my home phone number on the "no call list" has been a wonderful thing. Our family is no longer interrupted during meals, homework, or bedtime routines. If my family is interested in getting information on a particular service, we have the knowledge and ability to do so. Our lives are so busy that constantly running for the phone, only to have it be a telemarketer takes time away from my family. Please keep the no call list intact. Thank you.

Kathy Thronson